ART WORK BY FACULTIES

Venue : Chinmaya College
Campus

Theme : Cultural expression & collaboration: It focused on creating vibrant rangolis, symbolizing teamwork, creativity, & cultural values.

Objective: Learn & preach, skill enhancement, team work & collaboration.

REPORT

Art workshop -Rashmi S N

It was a pleasure to teach the fellow lecturers for an art project—creating rangolis on plastic moulds. The activity became even more engaging when everyone participated, bringing their unique touch to the designs. Using kundans and stones, we embellished the rangolis with creative ideas, making the artwork vibrant and colourful.

As teachers, we always emphasize the principle of "Learn and preach." This project perfectly embodied that, as the faculties not only taught lessons but actively participated, making stunning rangolis over four days of learning and collaboration.

This initiative was a part of the Chinmaya Vision Programme, which aims to nurture the holistic development of individuals by promoting the values of Indian culture. Through this activity, we connected with the program's core values—developing an integrated personality, learning to appreciate our heritage, a spirit of teamwork, and cultivating creativity. This highlighted our Indian culture.

The rangoli-making also reminded us of the Chinmaya Vision Programme's focus on culture, where understanding and preserving our cultural roots helps shape the character of both teachers and students.

Thanks a ton to our Principal Shri Vinayak B K for the support and motivation. Thanks to my colleagues.
